

Berrybank and Darlington Wind Farms, VIC

Tract lead a multi-disciplinary team in the planning for a major wind farm in Victoria's south west.

As a clean and green source of renewable energy, the projects will make an important contribution to reducing greenhouse emissions, addressing climate change and proving employment in rural areas.

Tract were involved in all aspects of the project, including preparation of EES notification and planning permit application, organizing a community information day, briefing Council and other stakeholders and preparing site plans.
